Third Way's Top 10 Clean Energy and Climate Stories of 2018

The Clean Energy Program

2018 was one helluva rollercoaster ride for people who care about climate and energy. From the Trump Administration's futile efforts to save coal, to states like California taking climate leadership to the next level, and the IPCC's grim call to action, we counted them down in a video featuring the entire Clean Energy team at Third Way. We've also included a few of our own policy perspectives that we think will ultimately help us aggressively meet our ambitious climate targets in 2019 and beyond.
